of section 9.

11. Section 9 of the principal Act shall be renumbered as section 72 thereof. 20

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988 was enacted to prohibit benami transactions and the right to recover property held benami. The said Act, inter alia, provides that—(a) all the properties held benami shall be subject to acquisition by such authority in such manner and after following such procedure as may be prescribed; (b) no amount shall be payable for the the acquisition of any property held benami; (c) the purchase of property by any person in the name of his wife or unmarried daughter for their benefit would not be benami transaction; (d) the securities held by a depository as registered owner under the provisions of the Depositories Act, 1996 or participant as an agent of a depository would not be benami transactions.

2. During the administration of the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988, it was found that the provisions of the aforesaid Act are inadequate to deal with benami transactions as the Act does not—(i) contain any specific provision for vesting of confiscated property with Central Government; (ii) have any provision for an appellate mechanism against an action taken by the authorities under the Act, while barring the jurisdiction of a civil court; (iii) confer the powers of the civil court upon the authorities for its implementation; and (iv) provide for adequate enabling rule making powers.

3. In view of the circumstances stated above, comprehensive amendments to the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988 has become necessary in order to prohibit holding property in benami and restrict right to recover or transfer property held benami and also to provide a mechanism and procedure for confiscation of property held benami. It is, therefore, felt necessary to bring comprehensive amendments to the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988 to deal with benami transactions. The Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Amendment Bill, 2015, inter-alia, provides for the following namely:—

(1) It defines a benami transaction and benami property and also provides for exclusions and transactions which shall not be construed benami:—

(a) A benami transaction has been defined as—

(i) a transaction or an arrangement where a property is transferred to or held by a person and the consideration for such property has been provided or paid by another person and the property is held for the immediate or future benefit, direct or indirect, of the person providing the consideration;

(ii) a transaction or an arrangement in respect of a property carried out or made in a fictitious name;

(iii) a transaction or an arrangement where the owner of the property is not aware of or denies knowledge of such ownership;

(iv) a transaction or an arrangement where the person providing the consideration is not traceable or fictitious.

(b) benami property is defined as any property which is the subject matter a benami transaction.

(c) Properties excluded from the definition of benami transaction are:—

(i) Properties acquired out of the known sources of income of the Hindu undivided family which are held by a coparcener in a Hindu undivided family;

(ii) Properties held by a person in fiduciary capacity;

(iii) Properties acquired out of the known sources of income by an individual in the name of spouse or in the name of any child of such individual;

(iv) Properties acquired out of the known sources of income in joint ownership with the brother or sister or any lineal ascendant or descendant.

The above transactions shall not be treated as benami transactions and accordingly shall not be subjected to any penal consequences.

(2) It provides the consequences of entering into a prohibited benami transactions which are:—

(a) Where any person enters into a benami transaction in order to defeat the provisions of any law or to avoid payment of statutory dues or to avoid payment to creditors, the beneficial owners, benamidar and any other person who abets or induces any person to enter into such benami transaction, shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one year but which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to a fine.

(b) A benami property shall also be liable for confiscation by the Adjudicating Authority.

(3) It lays down the procedure for determination and related penal consequences in the case of a prohibited benami transaction to be as under:—

(a) Proceedings for inquiring into an alleged benami transaction are to be initiated by the Initiating Officer;

(b) The Initiating Officer will refer the case to the Adjudicating Authority set up under the proposed Bill;

(c) The Adjudicating Authority, after providing an opportunity of being heard to the alleged benamidar, the beneficial owner, any interested party including a banking company and any other person who makes a claim in respect of the property, shall pass an order within one year, holding the property to be a benami property or otherwise;

(d) An appeal against the order of Adjudicating Authority shall lie with the Appellate Tribunal set up under the Bill;

(e) An appeal against the orders of the Appellate Tribunal shall lie with the jurisdictional High Court;

(f) After the order of Adjudicating Authority becomes final, it shall confiscate the properties held benami;

(g) Confiscated properties are to be managed and disposed of by officers of the rank of Income-tax Officer who shall be designated by the Central Government as Administrators.

(4) It also provides that—

(a) the powers of civil court shall be available to authorities under the said Act;

(b) miscellaneous provisions have been provided for service of notice, protection of action taken in good faith, etc.;

(c) the Central Government has been empowered to make rules for the implementation of the provisions of the Bill;

(d) it enables the Central Government, in consultation with the Chief Justice of the High Court, to designate one or more Courts of Session as Special Court or Special Courts for the purpose of the Bill;

(e) it provides penalty for entering into benami transactions and for furnishing any false documents in any proceeding under the Bill;

(f) it provides for transfer of any suit or proceeding in respect of a benami transaction pending in any court (other than High Court) or Tribunal or before any authority to the Appellate Tribunal as provided in the Bill.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
